For children

Darla The Elephant has Bipolar Disorder by Jessie Shepherd.

Often when people are given a mental health disorder diagnosis the weaknesses are clear and overwhelmingly emphasized, while the strengths are ignored or forgotten. The mental health children's book series 'What Mental Disorder?' challenges the stigma against therapy and diagnosis. It enlists the reader to view the character as a whole being and not as a mental issue. The books cover mental health challenges such as PTSD, Borderline Personality Disorder and ADHD

My Happy Sad Mummy by Michelle Vasiliu (2014) JoJo Publishing. Author Michelle Vasiliu draws from her own experience of bipolar disorder, cleverly and humorously portraying the emotional roller coaster of this illness, as a young child might perceive it and how through these difficulties, the bond of love between mother and child remains true. A fantastic picture book and invaluable resource for parents, teachers and health professionals.

Happy Pants – Why is Mummy so sad? By Heather Gallagher . When Mummy wears her happy pants we build sandcastles, go out for baby cinos and have lots of cuddles. But when she comes home with baby Darcy, her happy pants stay in the wardrobe. Post-natal depression effects 1 in 7 women. Happy pants is a heartfelt way to help older children know that their Mum's PND is not because of them, that dads are loving and caring, families can support each other and that mum will get better with help.

My Mum has depression by Nina Mitchell (2015). Nina is the mother of three boys, a qualified primary school teacher and now a first-time author. She has also suffered from depression for several years. When she found it challenging to explain the highs and lows of the illness to her sons, her answer was to write and self-publish a picture book. My Mum has Depression explains depression in simple words and pictures suitable for children of all ages. The purpose of my book is to provide a tool to adults so they can start the conversation with children. It would be an excellent resource for families, teachers, school guidance officers, public libraries, social workers, community aid centres, and similar aid organizations. Cost is $15.00 available via the author's website www.nutsaboutnina.com.au.

Between you and me (for children 8 – 12 years) and Let's talk About 'It' (for parents) is a colourful 44 page 'flip' book, so two books in one. It describes mental illnesses, some myths, what helps and much more, in clear simple language. It includes art and messages from children who have learnt about mental illness by attending a group called CHAMPS. Parents' comments and activities are also included. The aim for this book is to encourage children and parents to talk more, ask more questions and find some answers about mental illness. This book was developed in 2015 by FaPMI at Mid West Area Mental Health Service (MWAMHS) with the contributions of many people.

To obtain further copies of this book please contact: Mid West Area Mental Health Service, FaPMI Coordinator 4a Devonshire Rd, Sunshine 3020 (03) 9288 7000 or email Chris Dutton christopher.dutton@mh.org.au

The Elephant by Peter Carnavas An exquisite first novel from acclaimed picture book author and illustrator Peter Carnavas about Olive, Dad and his elephant.

Olive's father has a sadness so big that she imagines it as an enormous elephant following him around. Every day Olive sees the elephant, and every day she wishes it would go. With the help of Grandad and her best friend, Arthur, Olive sets out to chase the elephant away. But how can Olive move something so big?

You can't hide an elephant – book 1 (ages 7-12) by Sally Halligan
A Children's Book about Mental Health

This illustrated book is used as supported reading for children with a parent with a diagnosed mental illness. The book encourages the 'elephant in the room' or the stigma of mental illness, to be discussed openly in an age appropriate manner. A wonderful book for families facing the associated challenges when a parent has a mental illness. The story is told through the voice of a female middle child. This book comes with a Safety Plan to complete with appropriate support. The book is the perfect way to start a conversation about mental health, feelings and experiences. It provides hope and guides the development of strategies that will help to empower children. It is a wonderful resource for therapists, case workers, counsellors, welfare officers, social workers, mental health nurses, group facilitators and parents.

You can't hide an elephant - book 2 (Ages 7-12) by Sally Halligan
A Children's Book about Family Violence

This book is designed to be used as supported reading for children who have experienced family violence. The book is a wonderful way to start a conversation about family violence in an age appropriate manner.

It also helps children voice their feelings about their personal experience.

The story is told through the voice of the eldest boy, and identifies situations that children may face when someone in the family has been using violence.

Children readily identify with the boy's feelings, which are conveyed thoughtfully within the text and illustrations.

The book comes with a Safety Plan to complete and is 'must have' resource for therapists, case workers, group facilitators, refuge workers, welfare officers and parents.

BIG and ME by David Miller (2008) Ford Street Publishing, Melbourne.

Big and Small are machines that work together as a team. 'But some days Big goes a bit wobbly, and I get a lot worried.' Big malfunctions in a variety of ways and Small tries to help with the assistance of The Boss and Mechanic. The story is a metaphor for a child living with an adult who experiences mental illness but could also fit for children who have a parent with a substance misuse problem. BIG and ME is dramatically illustrated with paper sculpture. Teachers notes available on the website above.

The Weather House: Living with a Parent with Borderline Personality Disorder by Lisa Laporte, PhD and Ronald Fraser M.D.

This book provides clinically sound and age-appropriate information for children, answering questions about the borderline personality disorder of a parent, and suggesting ways to cope with the difficult situations.

Through analogies of weather patterns, the book provides psycho-educational comments by a "weather wiz" who explains the mother's sometimes strange behaviours that can be challenging to comprehend. The wonderful illustrations help with the understanding, and lighten the story with humour. This book will help teach children to better understand what is happening at home and how not to feel responsible for their parents' stormy times.

An Umbrella for Alex

This book narrates a young boy's journey as he attempts to understand and cope with his mother's abrupt mood swings. Written to be read with a therapist, parent, or other trusted adult, the story of Alex reassures affected children that they did not cause and are not responsible for the volatile behavior of their parent. Written by Dr. Rachel Rashkin-Shoot, a psychologist educated at the Adler School of Professional Psychology, with an amazing talent for explaining advanced notion in words that children can understand and enjoy. This book was wonderfully illustrated in colors by Danni Diol.

'It's about you Too!' A guide for children who have a parent with a mental illness. Published by NSF (National Schizophrenia Fellowship, Scotland). Excellent little book. <http://www.supportinmindscotland.org.uk/>

In My Corner On the Moon by Rachel Rashkin-Shoot (for ages age 11+)

This book is intended for children and adolescents who have experienced some form of trauma. Narrated by 12-year-old Abigail, the book is written in a straightforward but gentle style and has a strong psycho-educational component.

The idea is to normalize the response that many children have to overwhelming events in their lives. Through Abigail's story, trauma is put into simple terms that kids can understand and it's done without delving into details of her own or any specific trauma, but focusing instead on responses to trauma and the healing process that follows.

Interactive questions at the end of each page encourage discussion among children and the trusted adults in their lives.
